The NC AHEC Nurse Council Academic Progression Conference

Novel Clinical Approaches to Prepare the Contemporary Nurse

For 2020 two important conferences will be merged. The common goal for the stakeholders of the Academic Progression and RIBN projects is seamless advancement of nurses through educational systems. This two-day conference will enable North Carolina Nurse Leaders and Educators to examine strategies to promote scholarly advancement.

Leaders in nursing education will discover novel approaches to increase academic and clinical capacity while enhancing student experiences in pre-licensure and graduate programs.

Objectives

- Examine NCBON updates through the lens of the RIBN program
- Identify novel approaches being used in North Carolina to enhance RIBN success
- Discuss the implementation of simulation in undergraduate curricula
- Discuss the goals, curriculum and integration of clinical experiences in BSN to PhD Nursing programs
- Describe a model for developing preceptors in a primary care setting
- Examine a model for preceptor development in a designated clinical unit.
- Discuss the implementation of a clinical site at a small rural hospital
- Review an educational model of nursing intra-professional practice in a clinical setting
